Use of Metric System of Measurements in Patent Applications

The ability of the United States to compete in world trade and improve our trade balance is becoming more important and more difficult each day as our competitors get stronger. Presently, the United States is the only industrial country which has not adopted the metric system of weights and measures. The lack of U.S. goods being produced and packaged under metric standards results in our country being at a competitive disadvantage in world markets.

To improve our competitiveness, in the 1988 trade bill, Congress established metric as the Nation's "preferred system of units for United States trade and commerce," and set a 1992 date for Federal agencies to complete their transition to metric uses in "procurement, grants and other business related activities".

To implement the congressional designation of the metric system of measurement for U.S. trade and commerce, the President on July 25, 1991, issued an Executive Order (Metric Usage in Federal Government Programs) for the Federal Government to lead the way in metric usage. The Department of Commerce has been designated as the lead agency responsible for coordinating usage by the Federal Government.

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) does not currently require weights and measures in patent applications to be stated in the metric system. However, in Section 608.01 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, all patent applicants are strongly encouraged to use either (1) only metric units or (2) inch-pound units together with their metric equivalents, when describing their inventions in the specifications of patent applications.

In the spirit of the Executive Order, the PTO reiterates and emphasizes strong encouragement for patent applicants to use the metric system of weights and measurements in patent applications. At some future time when there has been a sufficient conversion to metric usage by U.S. research and development industries, the PTO will consider making it a requirement that patent applicants use metric units in patent applications.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs), receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier-issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections, which are organized in patent number sequence, are available for use by the public free of charge. Each of the PDLs, in addition, offers supplemental reference publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System, including the Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public, in gaining effctive access to information contained in patents. CASSIS (Classification And Search Support Information System); which provides direct, on-line access to Patent and Trademark Office data, is available at all PDLs. Facilities for making paper copies of patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent collections among the PDLs and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is urged to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

TRADEMARK REGISTRATIONS ISSUED UNDER SECTION 1(d)

The following marks have registered on the Principal Register pursuant to the intent-to-use provisions of Section 1(d) of the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
